Ranking Brackets predict at-large teams very well through time

Say what you will about the RPI, but one thing is certain. The RPI is very good at predicting which teams will make, and will not make, the NCAA tournament. No, the RPI is not perfect. But if you want a starting point from which to decide on your own which teams will make the tournament, CBN's Ranking Brackets, which are presented here for the 15th time, is the place to start.

Reading the left portion of the table shown below is straightforward. For example, in 2010, there were 2 automatic qualifiers, and 7 at-large teams, in the Ranking Bracket from No. 31 through 40. In 2011, there were 3 automatic qualifiers and 3 at-large teams in the ranking bracket from No. 51 through 60.

Ranking Bracket data in the right-hand portion of the chart might seem confusing but is understandable via this example. Using the No. 31 through 40 Ranking Bracket, from 1991 through 2012 there were 47 automatic and 145 at-large teams in the tournament. That totals 192 teams, out of a possible 220 teams in these 22 tournaments, showing that 87.3% of teams in the 31-40 RPI Ranking Bracket made the tournament. When only at-large teams are considered for the No. 31-40 Ranking Bracket, 145 at-large teams out of a potential 173 at-large teams received NCAA tournament bids, meaning that 83.8% of the potential at-large teams made the tournament. Put another way, 28 out of 173 teams (16.2%) in the 31-40 Ranking Bracket did not make the tournament.

The bottom line on the chart shows that 336 teams which ranked below (worse than) No. 60 in the RPI were automatic qualifiers, and just 13 teams made the tournament at-large. That means 50% of the automatic bids since 1991 were ranked below No. 60 in the RPI.

RPI Ranking Brackets, End Regular Season 2006-2012; and Totals and Percentages of NCAA Tournament Teams, 1991-2012

* Ineligible teams: 3 top 30 RPI teams and 1 51-60 RPI team in 1991; and 1 top 30 RPI team in 1992, 1993, 1997, and 2003. @ Oklahoma ranked No. 30 in 1993, Missouri St. ranked No. 21 and Hofstra ranked No. 30 in 2006, and Air Force ranked No. 30 in 2007, but were not invited to the NCAA tournament.

The difference between the percentages of only the at-large teams that have historically made the tournament, and the percentages of all teams that have historically made the tournament within those ranking bracket categories, as shown in the chart, may also seem confusing. However, teams that have automatic bids are in the tournament no matter if their RPI rank is No. 37 or 137.

Keep a couple of things in mind regarding the ranking bracket categories in the following chart. First, half of the automatic bids, from 1991 through 2012, ranked below (worse than) No. 60 in the RPI. The second is that 2 teams per year have been at-large selections in the 51-60 ranking bracket in the 2000's, but the average for the last 3 years is one per year. Since there are now three additional at-large teams in the tournament with the expansion to 68 teams in 2011, the percentage of all teams of making the tournament will almost certainly increase the average number of teams in the 51-60 ranking bracket in the future. Here is the simplified version of the chances of teams making the tournament at-large from 1991-2012:

RPI Rank	Chance of Making Tournament At-Large
1-30	Near Lock 99+%
31-40	Excellent 84%
41-50	Decent 57%
51-60	Not-So-Good to Fair 27%
>60	Poor: 13 @-large since 1991

Note: 322 of the 638 automatic bids (50.5%) since 1991 were ranked below No. 60 in the RPI

KEY TO CHANCES OF BEING AN AT-LARGE NCAA TOURNAMENT SELECTION IN VARIOUS NON-RPI CATEGORIES

This list appears in the Report around the first of February. "OK" denotes the team has, in general, met the standard for the given column, based on past at-large tournament selections. For NDI games, a "69.8% had 0" means that 69.8% of at-large teams played no non-Division I games; "OK" means they played no such games. For D-I wins, "69.4% had more wins" means that 69.4% of at-large teams had more wins than the team in question, and so on. The RPI Ranking Bracket column gives the percentage of at-large teams within the ranking bracket that were selected for the tournament.

The Rating Percentage Index has been used since 1981 to help select at-large teams and seed all teams for the men's NCAA basketball tournament. Data herein duplicates the RPI without input from the NCAA. The three RPI components are: Factor I (25% of the RPI) is the team's weighted Division I (D-I) winning percentage, excluding non-Division I opponents. Factor II (50%) is the team's opponents' D-I winning percentage (schedule strength) excluding games played against the team in question. Factor III (25%) is the team's opponents' opponents' D-I winning percentage (the teams' opponents' schedule strength). The weighted RPI formula is based upon the home, neutral, or road location of the game.
